NEW YORK COTTON MARKET.

New York, Sept. 18.—Not much headway was made in either direction so far as values were concerned on the Cotton Exchange to-day. After a quiet start, at a decline of 162 points, the market showed more or less irregularity but railled later in the forenoon, and for the rest of the day exhibited a generally healthy undertone, closing steady at a net gain of 264 points.

The initial weakness grew out of unfavorable market, as well as political news from Europe. Longs were made additionally nervous by reports that rains in the Southwest had been beneficial. As the session were along subsequent information developed entirely new ideas as to the effect of the rains in the Southwest, it being stated that the moisture had not only come too late, but had actually done considerable damage where heavy.
